Jefferson P-TA Council Launches Own Attack On Area Drug Abuse

The Jefferson Council of P-TA's Monday announced it had launched its own attack on the drug problem now sweeping through Daly City and asked the community at-large for support in the battle.

Since January the council's Drug Abuse Committee headed by Mrs. Jerry Galindo Jr., has met with various groups and individuals in an effort to better understand the problem afflicting the city's teen-agers.

At the Monday meeting, attended by some 30 persons, Mrs. Galindo explained her committee was established not only to find out the extent of the drug problem, but to see what is now being done in that field and to determine what additional programs, if any, are needed to educate both youth and adults on the crisis.

Mrs. Galindo said her committee pledges its support of groups now working on the problem and would also aid in setting up programs to combat drug abuse in new areas.

One of the programs that has the wholehearted backing of the committee is the "Smart Teens" program—a program set up and run by and for teens at the junior high school level.

The motto of this teen group is "Stamp Out Stupidity." The first such group in Northern California received its charter in San Mateo city several months ago.

Mrs. Peter Markovich, president of the Jefferson Council of P-TA's, said, "We've heard kids talking and we know there is a problem. Finally we said 'let's do something about it.' Smart Teens is only a first step."

The counterpart of Smart Teens is "Smart Set" and draws its membership from among high school students.

It was decided to charge members an entrance fee of $1.50, plus a maximum of 50 cents a month dues.

Books and other material would be purchased by members.

Meetings are once a week and arrangements are now being made to secure a meeting place for the club.

Smart Teens "rap" with each other about many things, including the drug problem, and hopefully turn off youth who think drugs are the "in" thing.

Usually a club will have two adult advisers from the community. It is a self-supporting club once it gets off the ground.

But to get the club functioning it needs money, perhaps $1,000, Mrs. Galindo explained.

The funds would be used to stock books and other paraphenalia.

Frank Toto Spadarella, attending the meeting as a concerned parent, suggested a community fund drive be carried out to raise the needed money.

He pointed out that the city was indeed faced with a drug problem said nationwide figures indicate the use of drugs had skyrocketed some 2,000 per cent in the last five years.

The committee suggested other goals in addition to Smart Teens.

With the funds, film strips and related visual aid programs could be put at each school library and also public libraries.

These "drug oriented programs" could be drawn out by various groups or teachers for presentation to interested organizations or classes.

Some libraries would even sell material with the P-TA council handing the sales and bookkeeping.

Long range plans of the group deal primarily with law enforcement and judicial matters.

In addition to working towards improving current laws regarding drugs the committee intends to bring about better understanding of laws now on the books, Mrs. Galindo explained.

A half-way house where teens could get proper advice—halfway between the parent and police station—was still another proposed project of the committee.

Conviction In Slaying Of Officer

Leandro Andreas Sedano, who shot a Daly City policeman during an escape attempt in 1966, was convicted Friday of first degree murder.

It was agreed by stipulation Tuesday in Superior Court that Leandro Andreas Sedeno, 36, slayer of a Daly City policeman nearly four years ago, will receive a life prison sentence rather than face the possibility of a death penalty.

Sedeno appeared crushed but otherwise displayed no emotion when the jury returned its verdict at 6:45 p.m. following eight hours of deliberation on the ninth day of trial.

The defendant was returned to Agnews State Hospital, where he has been held during trial, to await the second trial this week. Sedeno was found to be insane following his arrest and spent more than three years at Atascadero State Hospital. Doctors there determined last October that he had recovered his sanity and was able to stand trial.

Sedeno was convicted in the death of Police Officer Richard Klass, who died on June 9, 1966, a month after apprehending Sedeno during an escape attempt from Daly City jail. It was alleged that he grabbed the offi-

Broadmoor Girl, 10, Dies In Car Mishap

The death of a ten-year-old girl victim of an auto accident touched off a furor among many Broadmoor residents Saturday.

Little Lillian McEneaney was found severely injured on Friday on the front lawn of a home at 1060 Gilman Drive after a car driven by Garcie L. Geeter, 17, of San Francisco struck a parked Volkswagen bus.

The force of the impact was so great it sent the small bus tumbling some 27 feet.

Geeter said he was trying to catch up with another car driven by James Allen of San Francisco and when he put on the brakes the car swerved into the bus.

Apparently the victim, daughter of Lily McEneaney of 1039 Gilman Drive, was playing on the front lawn of a home with other children when the bus was knocked over.

She died shortly after being taken to Mary's Help Hospital at 5:45 p.m.

Geeter did not have a driver's license in his possession and police said he was speeding.

The car is owned by his sister, Patricia Washington of 1017 Gilman Drive.

Residents said they have asked for tighter police patrols along the street to prevent speeders.

Bruno Crime Rate Jumps 22 Per Cent

According to the 1969 annual report of the San Bruno Police Department, the crime rate increased 22.3 per cent that year over 1968.

The 13-page report lists the department's personnel, carries general information, includes scheduling, training, accident statistics and has some brief notes on the police reserves.

Figures on the crime statistics show an overall total increase of 253 incidents, from 1134 in 1968 to 1378 in 1969. This figure in 1967 was 1095.

There were three homicides in 1969, up one from the previous year. Rape dropped from six in 1968 to two last year. Robberies stayed the same—at 20. Felony assaults increased by one, from 10 to 11.

Burglaries jumped from 419 in 1968 to 560 in 1969 with 145 of last year's figure reported under categories other than burglary. Thefts also increased, from 504 in 1968 to 594 last year, with 193 reports in the 1969 figure being listed in categories other than theft.

Auto theft was yet another category. It showed an increase of 14 incidents, from 173 in 1968 to 187 in 1969.

In 1969 the detecitves were given 688 cases for followup in-

Central Services Department

Daly City's Paper Tiger

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Daly City's Central Services Department which has been depicted by some as a beast afflicted with an insatiable appetite, because of the way it has allegedly consumed personnel and money in the past year, is nothing but a paper tiger.

The department has been a cause celebre for some local political candidates because of an error in printing which transposed budgetary figures of two city departments.

The mistake occurred in the city's current 1969-70 budget summation (not the master budget records) when items 491 (Vehicle Maintenance) was switched with item 492 (Central Services) in the "Revolving Funds" category.

Without checking the matter out against the master budget record, some persons noted that Central Services had jumped from three personnel and a total expenditure of $53,850 in 1968-69 to three times the manpower and $155,560 in the 1969-70 budget.

They failed to note, however, that directly adjacent to the column was the Vehicle Maintenance summation that indicated that department had lost 66 per cent of its personnel and two-thirds of its money.

Charges were leveled that the Central Services Department was expanding because of the increased volume of what was called "propaganda material" aimed at popularizing the city staff and council.

City Manager David Rowe denied the allegations and pointed out the city has not published a "newsletter" for more than two years.

These four page bulletins were printed outside the city hall and mailed to residents along with their bi-monthly water bills.

Actually the newsletters, which did contain photos of city councilmen and staff doing one thing or another, are not unusual and many cities use this method of cementing community relations.

Central Services itself is a well-organized set of small rooms in the basement of the City Hall building at Nintieth and Sullivan avenues.

Department chief is Shelby Ross who works with two full-time men and two part-time messengers under the Finance Department.

Duties and responsibilities of the flexible department range from collection of money from parking meters and repair of the meters to printing.

Other duties are operation of the city's official postage machine, distribution of small supplies (from paper clips to

BARTD, Airport Link Study Gains Approval

The last major obstacle in preparing a joint study of a rapid transit extension from Daly City to International Airport was cleared Thursday when Bay Area Rapid Transit District directors approved the half-million dollar project.

BARTD was the last holdout in the three agency venture which includes San Mateo County, San Francisco County and BARTD.

The study of a possible fixed rail system from Daly City down a section of the Southern Pacific Railroad right-of-way, across a small portion of privately owned lands and using the old San Francisco trolley line will be financially assisted by Federal monies.

BARTD director Nello J. Bianco of Richmond, a new appointment to the board, was the sole opponent of the study.

The only cash outlay from BARTD to the study will be some $7500, with San Mateo and San Francisco counties contributing $64,000 each.

A Board-of-Control, with one representative from San Mateo County, San Francisco, BARTD and the SF Public Utilities Commission, has been established and will hold their first meeting at the Daly City city hall on April 24 at 9 a.m. The meeting is not open to the public.

Westmoor Students Win Bank Awards

Bank of America Achievement Awards were bestowed on 14 seniors at Westmoor High School, according to Clayton Kollman, principal at Westmoor.

Plaques were awarded to four students for their achievements in a general field of study. In addition these students will have the opportunity of competing with top students from other schools for cash awards up to $1,000. Students achieving plaque status were Rick Guisti, Greg Adams, Dan Mundstock, and Jeanne Wolff.

Rick Guisti, math and science plaque winner, has covered almost every aspect of high school life in his four years at Westmoor. He has represented Westmoor in the University of Santa Clara, San Luis Obispo, and National High School math competitions. He served as fall 1969 student body president. He also played end on Westmoor's championship football team. Rick is currently involved with school curriculum, as he is a member of Westmoor's School Planning Council.

In the fine arts department, Greg Adams was the plaque recipient. Greg is a member of Westmoor's Stage Band. His trumpet playing and original composition, "Porcelain Glass," and arrangements, "Camel Back" and "Introduction," were main factors in Westmoor's Stage Band's trophy winning at the University of Nevada Stage Band Festival.

Dan Mundstock received his plaque in the liberal arts field. Dan represented Westmoor last summer at Boys' State. Dan is also active in track at Westmoor and has been a member of C.S.F.

Jeanne Wolff, a future major in home economics at U.C. Davis, received her plaque in vocational arts. Her involvement at Westmoor hovers around the Girls' Athletic Association, German Club and the California Scholarship Federation. She and Rick are life members of the California Scholarship Federation.

The ten receiving certificates are Steve Wohl, math; Tina Herbert, Lab Science; Jim Bari, Music; Ron Wells, Drama; Judy Eliachar, English; Elena Grijalva, Social Science; Lorraine Thomas, Foreign Language; Cheri Beals, Business; Rebecca Rozman, Home Economics; and Michael Ricci, Trades and Industrial Arts.

cer's gun from its holster as they struggled on the ground.

On the witness stand last Monday Sedeno denied that he deliberately shot the officer or that he was trying to escape. He insisted that he was "retreating" from the jail because of fear of a beating and that when Klass was shot he was trying to shake the gun out of his cuffed hands.

During the trial defense attorney Dennis L. Woodman also sought to show that Sedeno suffered from diminished mental capacity and that Officer Klass did not die as a direct result of the bullet wound but because of a subsequent operation.

The prosecutor was Deputy District Attorney Robert Bishop.

vestigation. This was a decrease by 60 of the 1968 figure.

One method used by the department to combat the increasing crime rate is constant face-to-face public relations.

Juvenile Officer Frank Cook, for example, has been going to every school within the city limits to discuss such things as drug abuse, traffic and bicycle safety, child molestation and other timely topics.

During 1969, he spoke to students in a total of 306 classrooms, comprising approximately 8,500 youngsters. In addition, he and fellow officers served as guest speakers at approximately 40 civic functions last year.

Other means to curb crime include an "Officer Bill" coloring book for children. It contains helpful hints on safety.

The department also has a city-wide block parent organization in effect. Approximately 200 persons and 17 schools are part of the program.

And during December of 1969, members of the department distributed more than 150 burglary preventive pamphlets to local businessmen.

The newest effort involving the citizen in law enforcement is the Night Rider program begun in June of 1969. Residents actually ride with and share in every detail of the officer's work.

Although the crime rate is going up, ironically, the arrest rate went down, from 19,082 in 1968 to 16,374 in 1969. Officer George Celillo racked up the most arrests—a total of 4,979. This, however, was below his 1968 figure of 4,993.

The officer with the biggest drop in arrests was Detective Jack Gibson, down from 1,058 to 26. The largest gain in arrests was posted by Motorcycle Officer Edward Thune, up from 284 to 955.

The department received both more telephone calls—40,529 from 37,800—and radio calls—142,634 from 138,452—this past year than during 1968.

Training programs totaled 1,796 hours during 1969. In practice at the pistol range, Officer Frank Young led the pack with 232.2 points out of a possible 270 points. He was followed closely by Sgt. Fred Gillen, who scored 231.1. Officers Paul Esposito and Richard Reed followed closely with 222.3 and 222.0 respctively.

Accident statistics showed a total of 968 accidents reported. This figure denotes a nine per cent increase from 1968. There were four fatal accidents during 1969, however total injury accidents were down 11 per cent from 1968.

Hearing On Housing Set

San Bruno councilmen have set May 25 as the date of a public hearing on the Phase 1 of the city's Housing Element.

Adoption of Phase 1 and 2 will complete a workable program required by state and federal matching funds, should such applications be made in the future.

The housing element is strictly a general plan which reflects the housing needs in the city as a whole.

PLAQUES

Plaques for civic involvement with youth have been presented to Franklin Wheless, Edward Collamer and Robert Martin by the San Bruno councilmen.

Ecology Enters Planning In S.S.F

By BOB PETERSON

There is now an ecological orientation to city planning.

So says Dan Pass, South San Francisco's city planner.

Pass says his city (or any city for that matter) is very much in the spotlight. "People will no longer put up with overcommercialization. They'll no longer put up with amateur attempts to justify piecemeal planning.

"People today," said Pass, "are demanding an ecologically sound environment."

South San Francisco is deep in the business of planned community living. The most significant area being the planned community of Westborough.

"General plans have eroded on shelves because the people were not intimately involved with it," notes Pass. "Now I see I go to a council meeting and hear a citizens' group saying the plan must be held inviolate."

Pass who expounds proper planning, says, "If there is bad planning, there are going to be bad cities. And if there are poorly laid out cities, it usually is because there was bad planning.

"Sometimes the planner gets discouraged at the mistakes that are made in planning," said Pass. "But a lot of it has to be by trial and error because we have a myriad of elements to work with."

The South San Francisco city planner feels definitely that Westborough will be the future "garden spot" of the North County.

The city itself has a strong balance between residential acreage, industrial acreage and commercial acreage.

"We've found that it is almost textbook in its stability. This is quite gratifying," said Pass. "South San Francisco is an extremely well-balanced full-time metropolitan community."

He admitted there are areas of the city which need "attention," citing the area north of the urban core as an example.

"I'm not selling South San Francisco as a Hillsborough," interjected Pass. "But when you look at our neighborhoods you can see that to a very appreciable extent we have accommodated our citizenry in comfortable homes in sound neighborhoods.

"I feel that beautification, open space and a re-orientation to the bay are the big South San Francisco problems," said Pass. "They have to be dealt with in the next couple of decades.

"I think also that the posture of the town has to be low profile. South San Francisco should be characterized by humanization. It should be a city of vast parks and open spaces. Our general plan proposal is to make this the most pliable settlement in the whole Peninsula.

"It is one of the few cities in metropolitan areas that can realize these dreams," says Pass. "Some cities would like to but can't afford it.

"There is no reason, with South San Francisco's industrial empire, and with its basic orderly land use, that it can't be such."

brooms), distribution of supplies for the water department and printing of agendas and a limited amount of forms and minor publications using either a small offset press or mimeograph machine.

Accounting of supplies is also accomplished.

Each of the men assigned to the Central Services unit is a "Jack of all trades" and divides his time between franking letters, issuing supplies or helping run a variety of other miscellaneous jobs.

Central Services is, in fact, a "miscellaneous" but integral part of the city's operation.

There's a saying around City Hall:

"When a job doesn't fit in any other office it winds up in Central Services."

Pacifica Council Sues Yellow Cab Company

The embattled Yellow Cab Company of Pacifica was attacked from another direction last week.

Previously, two of its drivers, were arrested at International Airport for "trespassing."

Yesterday Pacifica City Attorney John R. Sherman, on behalf of the city council, filed suit in Superior Court in Redwood City to require the company to do one of two things:

—Remove the word "Pacifica" from all its cabs and advertising, or —Specify on its cabs and advertising, in the same size lettering as the word "Pacifica," the words, "Not a cab company licensed by the city of Pacifica."

Court hearing on the city's request for an injunction was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. April 8 by Presiding Judge Melvin E. Cohn.

The lawsuit, which names Milton Henke, the owner of the taxi company, as defendant, asserts that he "wrongfully" uses a FLanders exchange telephone number and the name of the city in the company title. The telephone book shows an address of 375 Arroyo Drive, South San Francisco. That address, the suit states, is Henke's home "and his cabs are often parked on Arroyo Drive, in front of his home."

Use of the phone number and name, the suit states, "implies a Pacifica exchange and licensed cab operator, when in fact said defendant is not now and never has been licensed by the city of Pacifica." Henke applied for a license two years ago and it was denied.

"The city of Pacifica has no control over the operation of said company as to its routes or method of operations," the lawsuit states. "However, the defendant's continued operation under said name and style gives implication that the city has sanctioned or otherwise approved of its operation as a Pacifica cab company, which is untrue."

Chamber Week Slated

The week of April 5-11 has been proclaimed Chamber of Commerce Week in Pacifica.

Mayor Nick Gust, noting the "citizens of this community are proud of its chamber of commerce for its efforts in making our city a balanced community and a better place in which to live and work," issued the proclamation this week.

Gust stated the chamber had "championed the free enterprise system" and encouraged private initiative, as well as "provided the organizational framework" necessary to make the business community

At Large Vs. District Vote Still Debated

The issue of whether or not county supervisors should be elected by districts instead of at large apparently is not dead if a brief debate between Mayor Bernard Lycett of Daly City and Mayor Victor Tigerman of Half Moon Bay at the San Mateo County Council of Mayors, meeting at The Sequoias in Portola Valley Thursday, is ayn indication.

Citing a recent meeting of the North County Council of Cities at which the subject was reviewed, Lycett brought up the proposal that mayors be elected from their own districts instead of at large. The proposal was originally made by last year's grand jury, but subsequently rejected by the county board of supervisors.

Lycett noted Tigerman was opposed to the recommendation. He asked that an impartial chairman of a committee studying the matter be appointed to replace Tigerman.

Tigerman, acknowledging his opposition and Lycett's advocacy, said, "You make me pale by comparison."

Mayor Thomas M. Jenkins of San Carlos, chairman of the mayors' group, promised he would try to find a new committee chairman.

Patrolman Is Injured

Highway Patrolman Ben L. Donahue and two South San Francisco men were injured Wednesday in an auto collision on Cabrillo Highway south of Pescadero.

Donahue said he was southbound on the highway at 2 p.m. when a car driven by Donald R. Himes, 33-year-old salesman of 127 Fir Avenue, South San Francisco, drove onto the roadway from Williamson's gas station. The officer applied the brakes and the patrol car skidded into the other auto.

Witnesses said Himes' car struck a gas pump in the station just before going onto the highway.

Donahue sustained a neck injury.. Himes suffered face lacerations and his passenger, Richard H. Lutge, 150 Ponderosa Road, South San Francisco, a forehead injury..

None of the injured required hospitalization.

COAST GUARD RESCUE

Five Trapped On D.C. Beach Saved

A Coast Guard helicopter rescued five persons Saturday night, some eight hours after they became trapped by incoming tidal waters near Mussel Rock.

No one was hurt in the operation, carried out in darkness and gusty winds.

The chopper made two shuttle trips between the rocky outcropping the youths had taken refuge on and an open stretch of beach some half-mile down the coast.

Four of the youths were brothers who began exploring the beach along with a male companion about 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

While searching through some tidal caves in the area, the five failed to notice the tide coming in until it was too late.

An unidentified family member called Daly City police at 7:30 p.m. after finding the trapped youths' car parked on the roadway overlooking the beach.

Efforts by teams of police and firemen to locate the five failed and a call was put in to the Coast Guard.

Shortly after arrival at the scene the chopper crew, with the aid of a huge spotlight, located they ouths.

In two trips the Coast Guard chopper picked up Harold Crowhurst, 23, 113 School Street, Daly City; Jim Crowhurst, 19, 113 School Street, Daly City; Dale Crowhurst, 17, 2623 Forty-third Avenue, San Francisco; Paul Crowhurst, 13, 2623 Forty-third Avenue, San Francisco, and Wayne Dias, 22, 2147 Forty-third Avenue, San Francisco.

By 10 p.m. the rescue of the stranded youths was over and the helicopter returned to its station at International Airport.

A Unique Doll House On Coastside

The Junior Saints, seventh and eighth graders of St. Edmund's Episcopal Church, Pacifica, have constructed and furnished a doll house to be given the Recreation Center for the Handicaped at Fleishhacker Pool, San Francisco.

The house, scaled for 14-inch "Barbie" dolls, is three stories high and boasts six rooms, a garage, a railed deck, and an operable elevator.

It is specifically designed for the varied ages and types of handicaps found among the children at Fleishhacker and is ment to be free standing so that several children can play with it at once, reaching in from any side.

The group plans to pay for the materials in their house by building another and selling it for the cost of both. A large house similar to the one on display earlier this month at Dreith and Norton Realty, Pacifica, would cost $60 unfurnished.

Baughman is a career civil servant who began his tenure in the Federal service with the Navy in Alameda in 1946. He joined GSA ten years later and since that time has served in various management capacities.

For the past two and one-half years he has been the regional chief of GSA's Buildings Management Division.

Displays of group and individual handcrafts and art works will be punctuated with puppet shows, skits and demonstrations of various art media.

FUELS SPECIALIST

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho — Aniano S. Domingo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anselmo Domingo, 165 Los Olivos, Daly City, has been promoted to staff sergeant in the U.S. Air Force.

Sergeant Domingo, a fuels specialist, is at Mountain Home AFB, Idaho, with the 67th Supply Squadron, a unit of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat units for air support of U.S. ground forces.

Political Roundup

Chris Ramos, campaign manager for Terry J. Mirri, announces that the audio visual presentation used at the South San Francisco Elks Club for candidates night, is now available for group gatherings. Anyone wishing to hear Mirri speaking on his plans for the unification of South San Francisco and the betterment of this city can call Ramos of South San Francisco, and schedule a night for this presentation, after 5:30 p.m.

In his absence a committee of 50 adults and 20 young adults has been conducting his campaign carrying the Mirri Message to all parts of South San Francisco. Ramos states that his committee has met with overwhelming support and is highly encouraged by the support from local Leaders of the Community who are presently in City Government, in Education and in Industry. Andrew Rocca, senior South San Francisco Councilman, recently made the statement that "He was impressed with the zeal and promise shown by Terry Mirri.

Mrri has taken the time and expended the money to prepare himself for a career in politics and city government by getting a degree in political science from the University of San Francisco. In addition to this degree and to better prepare himself to make intelligent decisions he has also had one year of law school. He has received training far in excess of what he could receive by spending one or two years on a commission to which he might have been appointed by the local council.

A new San Bruno Newsletter is out and Dick Griffith, candidate for a city council seat in the April 14 election doesn't like it. Not the fact sheet, the fact that it is out at this particular time.

Matter of fact at a recent council session Griffith requested "equal time" (or should that be equal space) in the sheet. His request was brushed aside.

The newsletter, which disall councilmen, was mailed to all residents with their utility bill.

Word from city hall is that the newsletter comes out annually at about this time — and on occasion might even come out twice a year.

This issue was prompted by Councilman Maurice Hamilton's suggestion some time ago that the residents be educated on the sewer problem associated with non-disposable articles, including diapers, toweling etc.

Then, later Hamilton suggested the newsletter would be a good way to inform the citizenry of just exactly what Phase 1 of the Housing Element is, and how it applies to the city. City Mgr. Gerard Vergeer was commissioned to "get it out."

He did. The 8½-by-11 sheet, printed on both sides, contains briefs on 20 items, including the two requested by Hamilton. The other items include the status of particular projects, past situations and a "general outlook."

City Services To Get Top Priority

South San Francisco city council candidate Edward J. Rickenbacher says one of his goals as councilman would be to keep the city's services up-to-date and adequately supplied.

"We who are asking the people (our employers in effect) to elect us to represent them," cautions Rickenbacher, "must be prepared to surmount the mountainous task of maintaining excellence in city services while being aware that more equipment and employes are inevitable in the future."

Rickenbacher cited the fire department's enviable Class 3 fire rating "as second only to San Francisco's Class 2." and acknoweldged the police department's national reputation for the "integrity and dedication of its officers and men."

The candidate pointed out also that the city's parks and recreation areas are well maintained, and that "for that matter, each and every branch of our city government has done their share and has strived toward the betterment of our city."

"Along with this and an expected and certain increase in population," says Rickenbacher, "Must come action from the council to stay with the times and act at once on obvious needs this growth will demand of our civic services.

"When the time comes, I will be prepared and will "take the bull by the horns' without costly delays to the taxpayers to expedite passage of these expected vital issues."

South S.F. Government Needs Change

South San Francisco City Council candidate Edward Rickenbacher says the city government needs a change.

"Let's unify our town," said the 20-year resident. "We're not an old town, nor a new town, we're one town. And we must get all areas to work together for better government.

"Indecisions, personality clashes and complacency are only a few of the things happening in our city government that express the need for change," said the candidate who feels he is up to bringing about this change.

"I have watched this city grow from 13,000 to its present population," he said. "We all have derived many benefits from this city and I am now seeing them jeopardized this is why I have chosen to become a candidate for the city council."

Taylor Will Be 'Voice Of People'

Who will represent the citizens of Daly City living east of Junipero Serra Boulevard?

This is the question being asked by Marie Taylor, candidate for the Daly City Council.

With Councilman Edward J. Dennis choosing not to run for re-election, this area of the city is without representation on the City Council, according to Mrs. Taylor, a resident of School Street.

Promising to be a full-time voice of the voters with no political obligations, Mrs. Taylor vowed, if elected, to speak for the voters of her area in addition to those of other areas of the city.

Since most of the crime in the city if committed in this area, she would ask for increased police protection and public facilities for the residents.

A graduate of LaSorbonne, France, Mrs. Taylor has a deep interest in the minority groups of Daly City, and promises to speak for them "from experience and contact, not from second-hand information."

Since many of the residents of this area are senior citizens, she recommends tax relief for them as well as for low-income families striving to purchase homes and raise families.

With headquarters at 178 School Street, Mrs. Taylor is busily making contact with the voters of the area to learn their needs and their problems in order to take steps to correct them.

Mrs. Taylor stated "The citizens of this area are entitled to the additional services to preserve law and order in their neighborhoods."

Political Roundup

Marie Taylor

Candidate Mrs. Marie Taylor is the widowed mother of two son both of whom have served in the U.S. Navy.

A volunteer Red Cross worker, Mrs. Taylor graduated from the Sorbonne in Paris, France, and has been a long-time member of the San Mateo County Board of Realtors.

She has lived in Daly City for the past 16 years.

Mrs. Taylor said she will run her campaign on her deep concern for the needs of the city and people and will attempt to make Daly City "the best place to live."

She will try to solve the problems of littered streets, parking facilities (mostly in the "old" section of the city) and will undertake the problem of real estate taxes, especially for fixed income residents.

More public facilities are needed in the city and everyone should be concerned with law enforcement, to insure the safety of city streets "and our homes."

Her entry into the campaign will also give voters a "chance to elect a new face," according to the candidate's statement.

Morris Tolson

Candidate Morris (Morrie) Tolson pledged a stronger effort at communications between the Daly City council and community, equal pay for police and firemen, and one of the toughest battles against local drug abuse ever fought as his major platforms.

The candidate is a native of Beaumont, Texas, and is 27 years old.

Tolson said he feels he can provide a rally point that could bring all sides together and noted "there is no ethnic representation on the city council or any of its commissions."

The rumbles at local high schools has alarmed Tolson, who vowed to bridge the communications gap with youth in an effort to settle problems.

"When a sixth grade student can buy drugs like he buys candy the situation is pretty bad," Tolson said.

He peldged to push for a strong crackdown on drug peddlers in an effort to fight the drug abuse problem among local youth.

In other issues, Tolson feels that firemen should have parity pay with police. He said both "put their life on the line" on each alarm they answer.

Tolson said he believes the city's Central Services Department should be abolished because he feels it is a tool used to perpetuate incumbents in office.

Stronger relationship between school and city must be developed and the candidate noted a lack of activities for teenagers and senior citizens.

If elected Tolson intends to work toward giving park directors a freer hand in playground directing and programming.

His background in banking and youth activities is a valuable aid in doing a good job on the council, Tolson feels.

He is a time-plan representative for the Bank of America and has attended City College in San Francisco, San Francisco State College and the American Institute of Banking classes.

Frank Magnani

Candidate Frank L. Magnani is an attorney with the South San Francisco firm of Bocci & Modena, Inc. and has lived in Daly City with his family for many years.

A native of Providence, Rhode Island, he moved to San Francisco when he was two years old.

Magnani is a graduate of the University of San Francisco and also attended the University of San Francisco Law School for his degree. He was admitted to the bar in January 1960.

The candidate pledged to seek ways to reduce property taxes, especially for senior citizens in the community; to embark on an education campaign concerning drug abuse for both adults and minors; to make the office of the City Council "personal to the point where the citizens . . . will be able to contact me personally to discuss problems . . ." and to implement a program for teen-agers of the community whereby they will be kept active after school hours.

Magnani is a member of the Young Men's Institute Council No. 2; Elks Club BPOE Lodge No. 2091; Police Athletic League (SSF); D. C. Kiwanas; Our Lady of Mercy Men's Club; Eagles; California Bar Association; North County Bar Association; San Mateo Trial Lawyers Association; Westlake P-TA; U.S.F. Alumni Association, San Mateo Peninsula Chapter, and Salesian Boys Club Alumni.

He is a former member of the Knights of Columbus and S.S.F. Lions Club.

The candidate resides at 98 Castlemont Street with his wife, Ann Helen, and six children — Molly (10); Kathleen (9); Mary (8) Bernadette (6); Frank Joseph (4), and Michael (3).

Micheal DeBernardi

Incumbent councilman Micheal (Mickey) DeBernardi has been a resident of Daly City for 32 years and on the council for the past 16 years.

He is a member of the Daly City Chamber of Commerce, Optimist Club, Elks Club and has served as a chairman and director of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District.

DeBernardi was also a member of the now defunct West Bay Rapid Transit Authority (WBRTA) and a member of the D.C. Bay Area Rapid Transit District Committee.

The councilman said if re-elected he will fight to have the city participate in solving the local drug problem; will push for more police and firemen; continue to support better lighting in residential areas, and attempt to form a broader tax base through redevelopment around the BARTD station.

DeBernardi said he will also push for completion of the local water distribution system; additional recreation as funds become available and continued capital outlay programs on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

He is married and has five children — Micheal (24), Patricia (22) twins Mark and Mathew (21), Dawne (13) also one grandchildn.

Dino Tonelli

Former Daly City Planning Commissioner Dino H. Tonelli will use his knowledge of drugs to combat the rising drug abuse problem in the city if elected.

In addition, Tonelli said his experience on various city commissions (planning and personnel) coupled with his business experience as a pharmacist will assist him in dealing with the problems and everyday business of the city.

Owner of three pharmaceutical firms in San Francisco, Tonelli has been active in many civic functions and study groups in both cities.

He is a graduate of Balboa High School and received his B.S. in pharmacy from the University of California.

Tonelli is a much-decorated Air Force veteran of World War II and also served on the County Grand Jury in 1968.

The candidate is a member of the Bay Area Health Facilities

Planning Association; former member of the D.C. Planning Commission; S. F. Pharmaceutical Association (area director); Our Lady of Mercy Men's Club (charter member) president of the Excelsior Merchants' Association.

His wife, Elsie, and seven children — Diane (22), Linda (20), Sandra (19), Jerry (15), Carol (13) Paul (12) and Gina (9) — reside at 91 Windsor Drive, Daly City.

Maria Luna

Mrs. Maria Luna was born in Mexico and arrived in the United States 13 years ago. She settled in Daly City in 1963 and owns a home and beauty salon at 903 Hanover Street.

The candidate's children — Raul (13), Oscar (12), Diane (10) and Gabriel (7) — all attend Daly City elementary schools.

Mrs. Luna is concerned with the scarcity of housing for low income groups and persons on fixed incomes in the city and pledged to work towards alleviating this problem if elected.

She intends to find out why some senior citizens have been placed in the precarious position of losing their homes during 1969-70 because of the sudden increase in property taxes.

The candidate said taxes have jumped as much as 40 per cent "and in several cases as much as $600 on a 40-year home."

She does not accept the projected 15 per cent water rate hike that San Francisco is taking of Peninsula users and pointed out that Daly City gets "65 per cent of the water . . . from our wells and it certainly does not cost as much to raise water up 400 feet as it does to transport same 300 miles."

Having had experience in raising four children, Mrs. Luna is very interested in "junior citizens" and said they must be made "a part and parcel of our whole society."

She aslo suggested the city create a job placement system "and if necessary creation of jobs for those who want to work.

"It seems like only a little, but it means a lot to them," she said.

Ecology Stand

Pacifica council candidate Stan Farber renewed his pledge today not to put campaign signs on trees, public structures or highways in an effort to protect ecology.

NORTHLING

Ronald V. Northling, of 5 Coronado Avenue, Daly City, was among the candidates filing for the Fifth District Republican Central Committee nomination last week. The Post ommitted his name in listing Republicans who had filed for the Central Committee. Northling is a management consultant.

Mrs. Luna Willing To Learn Job

Daly City council candidate Maria Luna said today she is willing to learn, the hard way if necessary, how to be a good politician.

"When I came to this country I had only ten cents in my pocket. The first question that was asked of me was what are you able to do?' My answer was I am willing to learn," the candidate said.

The mother of four children said the United States has given her an opportunity to start her own business at 901 Hanover Street and "I wish to offer my experience, service and love of fellow Americans" in return.

A woman on the city council would "not be out of place and would bring new ideas and a little heart to city government," she said.

Mrs. Luna pointed out that "something must be done" about junior citizens and senior citizens along with the current housing problem in the city.

Two Term Limit Asked By Papan

City councilmen should be limited to two consecutive terms of office, Daly City council candidate Louis J. Papan said today.

"If a councilman cannot accomplish his goals in that length of time he is ineffective and should step aside," Papan said.

Papan leveled his heaviest barrrage to date at those politicians who are elected by the people "and sit around for years and do nothing but take up space."

He refused to single out any one councilman but noted there were some elected officials who perpetuate themselves in office on what he called "a do-nothing platform."

"These councilmen would have us believe they are responsible for all the good that happens in a city and point the finger of blame on all the bad decisions at somebody else," he said.

"What the Daly City Council needs is a fresh outlook at the many problems afflicting our growing city, and those problems that will undoubtedly crop up in the future," Papan explained.

Papan said if elected he would serve the citizens of Daly City "with all my strength and abilities" for his term of office and when he had exhausted that strength, "I will step aside and let someone with new imagination take over."

Property Tax Moratorium Is Proposed

"I think a property tax moratorium may be the key to upgrading our downtown shopping area," San Bruno City Council Candidate Tony Governale told a meeting of the San Bruno - Millbrae Jaycees today. "I propose that over a ten-year period property owners in our downtown business district be given the incentive of perhaps three years without property taxes in exchange for upgrading their property in those years. Now is the time to do this," said Governale, "we'll have the Tanforan revenue to give the city shelter from any income loss and the increased tax revenue from the upgraded properties will make an area that could possibly become an expensive problem to San Bruno, a real asset to our community. If the city itself can't produce enough tax incentive we should appeal to the state, county or other taxing bodies to assist in the worthwhile program."

Governale's vehicle would be a San Mateo Avenue Shopping Center Master Plan which would give the merchant the tax incentives in exchange for developing his property in accord with the Master Plan."

The former Park and Recreation Commission Chairman predicted "sales tax revenue could double in ten years and at the same time we could maintain the 'neighbor' kind of relationship between our merchants and their customers."

Governale invited Jaycee members and other citizens to discuss the proposal with him and "help save our valuable downtown community."

Housing Plan A 'Nothing,' Says Griffith

San Bruno City Council Candidate Dick Griffith today called the Phase-One Housing Element General Plan prepared by Hahn, Wise and Associates "an eleborate spiral-bound nothing which is typical of the studies the city's councilmen have voted thousands of dollars of homeowners' tax funds for over the last decade."

"The report is comprised of 24 pages of bombastic double-talk designed chiefly to qualify the city for matching federal and state funds for future tenement districts.

"These same planning consultants whose advice helped load Crestmoor with apartment project after apartment project on the pretext they were needed to support a grandios shopping center which never materialized in the Skyline area are still trying to find excuses for more apartments.

"The protected growth of San Bruno, they say, will need to be accommodated by the construction of 300 new housing units a year. Actually, it is the creation of the housing units that induces the growth — and San Bruno is already too densely populated.

"The fact is that each new apartment unit that is now added will multiply the city's sewage, garbage, gasoline pollution and traffic safety problems.

"We need to come to a skidding halt on approval of 1,000 unit apartment projects. Let's hold the line on RM zoning on such areas as remain — and let's require open space and landscaping around any apartments already in the works — unlike those on Whitman Way, for example, which are crammed in like sardines."

A Personal Government Is Proposed

In a statement released to the Pacific Heights Homeowners' Association, San Bruno City Council candidate, Theodore (Ted) Long, outlined a two-point proposal which would, in his opinion, broaden communications between the elective officers of the city government and the community.

Long stated, "In the coming decade, it is obvious that we must maintain close communications with the people. We can no longer sit in the so-called 'ivory towers' and kid ourselves that we are doing the best for the people.

"The people now are more concerned about what their government is doing than they have ever been in the history of this country and unless our city devises new methods of improving its communications, we cannot expect to move ahead as a progressive city."

Long commended the homeowners' associations for their efforts in the various neighborhoods and proposed a plan whereby representatives from these groups could be called on, in an advisory capacity, to reflect the attitude of their many neighbors.

In addition, Long suggested that many of the council's meetings and special meetings could be held in the neighborhoods under the direction of the homeowners' groups or other interested neighborhood organizations.

Long feels that in this way the people will no longer feel that they do not have the right to seek out their elected representatives but can begin to openly discuss the new priorities of the seventies with them.

The candidate cited recent attempts by conservation groups, pollution and environmental control organizations, as well as those very much concerned about freeway construction, playgrounds and other important recreational projects, as examples of the frustration of not being able to communicate.

On the over-all program of citizen participation in recreation, Long recalled his previous commitment of reviewing the city's current recreational needs and facilities with the hopes an effective program can be implemented whereby recreation can be returned to the whole community rather than the specialized groups who happen to monopolize the existing facilities.

HEAD-ON—Both drivers were injured Saturday in a head-on collision on Hillside Boulevard near F Street in Colma. Witnesses told highway patrolmen that a sedan driven by Martin N. Geske, 46-year-old cable splicer of 1154 Crestwood Drive, South San Francisco, crossed over the center line and collided with a station wagon driven by Frak Wojdula, 52, a printer, of 437 Forest View Drive, South San Francisco. The victims were taken to Mary's Help Hospital. Wojdula remains in the intensive care unit, listed in fair condition with internal injuries and fractures of the legs, according to hospital sources. Geske was treated for multiple lacerations, but not admitted. (Post Photo by Burton)

Firemen Participate In State Industrial Training Research

Members of Pacifica, Daly City and South San Francisco Fire Departments are among the active participants in the State Industrial Training Department's fire research project at Willows.

Preparatory training classes conducted in Daly City preceded the actual burning down, under control conditions, of the Glenn County city's old municipal building that once housed city offices, police and fire departments.

A large area of the community's original business sector is being razed under a redevelopment project and various fire departments, including those in Northern San Mateo County, are participating in the fire training project.

Attending the recent "burn" from Pacifica were Asst. Chief Ken Donohue, Capts. John Murphy and James (Babe) Evans; Engineers Harry Georgeson, Ray Boucher and Duane Berg, and firefighters Larry Newell and Bob Rosemont.

From Daly City: Capt. Richard May and Firemen Gus Constatinos, Michael O'Connor, Michael Orloff, George Panellis, John Poulos, Felix Valdez, Donald Welcher.

Hoseman William Moke attended from South San Francisco.

Capt. May of the Daly City department conducted a 15-hour class in basic structural fire control for the personnel who were to attend the Willows project.

At the actual razing site, Capt. Mays was a crew captain, under the direction of Pacifica's Assistant Chief Donahue.

Donahue as "services chief" on one detail; "line chief" on another.

His own department captains — Evans and Murphy — were crew chiefs, while the fire fighters from all three departments were the crewmen.

Pacifica Fire Chief Cal Hinton said the project "serves many purposes," giving many fire departments "the opportunity to work together on a large-scale fire problem."

It additionally "drills officers and men in the fundamentals of teamwork, gives officers an opportunity to direct fire ground operations possibly not found in his local department provides training for chief officers in establishing large-scale fire ground operations, tests new equipment and methods and provides material for training books and films," Chief Hinton pointed out.

Captain May said he found the training to be "constructive." He expects it to be more so in the future.

"We found these departments could work together," Captain May also declared.

San Bruno Issues Coin

The "747" San Francisco International Airport commemorative coin saluting Pan Am and the "New Era of Flight" will be issued by the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce in mid-April.

Three thousand antique bronze one and nine-sixteenth inch 12-guage coins will be minted. The struck coins will be heat sealed in individual plastic bags and remain untouched.

"We will make this coin available to the public," FAA Chief Controller and Commemorative Coin Chairman Norman Merkel said. "It is part of our program to celebrate this new era of flight and bring attention to the convenience and economic impact the 747 will create."

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD CROCIANI
(JUDITH DUMON)

The Richard Crocianis Are At Home

Home in San Francisco after their honeymoon at Lake Tahoe are Judith Ann Duncan and Richard Paul Crociani. The Immaculate Conception Church in San Francisco was the scene of the wedding.

Escorted to the altar by her grandfather Howard Brundage, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Belik of San Bruno. For her wedding, Judith chose a white satin gown with an overcoat and lace train.

Girl Scouts Eyeing Event

The San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council, representing over 47,000 girls and 40 Bay Area Associations, will present Scout-A-Whirl 1970 at the Oakland Coliseum April 18, from 12:30 to 8 p.m. and on Sunday 12 to 6 p.m. with an admission charge of 50 cents per person.

The theme for this Council-wide event to celebrate California's Bicentennial is "Bridges Around the Bay" into the past, of friendship and of service.

The Daly City Area Girl Scout Association theme is "Entertainment Through the Ages" — Bridges into the past through the theater arts — music, songs, and dances.

"There's No Business Like Show Business" is the motto of the Daly City troops as they prepare puppet shows, dramas on California and early American history, original plays, and pantomimes in addition to an old-time vaudeville show and a London Music Hall Show.

"I Could Have Danced All Night" is the refrain of the various groups who will perform Renaissance dances, square dances, Indian, Philippine and interpretative dances.

"The Sound of Music" will be represented by a guitar group plus folk songs and excerpts from the musicals "Camelot," "Oliver," "West Side Story," and from the movies "The Wizard of Oz" and "Mary Poppins."

The Age of Shakespeare to the Age of Aquarius will be the range of theatrical presentations.

The presentations being prepared by the troops are related to the creative arts phase of the Girl Scout program and fulfill part of the badge work requirements for drama, music, dance and art.

In many cases the troops will give their performances again as service projects at homes for the aged, convalescent homes and to entertain handicapped children as well as school and church groups.

To date 12 Brownie Troops, 10 Junior Troops, all 9 Cadette Troops, and Senior Troop 24, representing over 50 per cent of the Girl Scouts in Daly C'y Area Association, are participating.

THE MARQUEE

Patton: Hot Head With Heart

"Your own worst enemy is your own big mouth," is the criticism put to General George S. Patton, warrior extraodinaire, by a fellow officer. But it certainly is the crux, the blood and guts of his biographical film, "Patton," now at the Golden Gate Theater.

A whopping good film; a stellar, unqualified virtuoso performance by George C. Scott as the crusty, foul-mouthed disciplinarian who marched across Europe in glory during World War II, but not without static on the home front and enough public condemnation for his personal behavior to bring him close to a court-martial. It did earn him official and unofficial reprimands from Dwight D. Eisenhower and the frequent wrath of Congress, the Senate and those serving under his brilliant command.

Scott is so superlative as the controversial, arrogant and rebellious personality that his performance dominates an otherwise better than average war flick. Franklin Schaffner has staged some magnificent tank warfare scenes but focus is always on the explosive, tyrannical man who hated the Twentieth Century and planned his battles according to historical strategy, being a scholar of ancient wars and famous campaigns by Alexander The Great, the Greeks, Romans and Napoleon.

Patton belived n reincarnation, remembering himself in battles dating back hundreds of centuries. He was a good soldier, not, according to General Omar Bradley on whose book Francis Coppola and Edmund H. North based their factual material, because he was trained to do it, "but because he loved it."

HIS LOVE OF BATTLE, design for prominence and publicity, poetic nature that came out in his pensive moments and religious philosophy that saw him kneel in prayer and perform rites over the dying soldiers, all glows through on the screen with a tremendous respect for the man-soldier-individual he was.

It doesn't spare him the shame he felt at having to apologize for slapping a shell-shocked young recruit, or minimize his passionate outbursts when he didn't get his way. But Scott plays him like a hero, egocentric and tough but a man whose mark as a soldier was the boundary between heroics and modern warfare. He read the classics and dreamed of meeting Hitler's favorite Field Marshal Rommel alone on the battlefield in hand-to-hand combat, as the jousters did in King Arthur's court.

The film begins with the American troops massacred in North Africa because of being outnumbered and against superior equipment of the Germans. The juggling for world prestige between Patton and the British General Montgomery affords many laughs, as does most of the dialogue. Patton's penchant for profanity is a howl a minute, even at its loudest and untimeliness. His final scene comes at the end of the war but before his accidental death.

IT COULD BE CONSIDERED A COMEDY, if it wasn't so close to the truth and if it wasn't set against the ravages of war. There are no love interests, no concessions to the famous American's homelife or intimacies. It's a profile of a man, right or wrong, and it's rich with authenticity and drama.

Karl Malden is especially likeable, as the sympathetic and dedicated General Omar Bradley. The cast is studded with fine actors from the legitimate stage and screen.

OCEANA HIGH CERAMICS TEACHER — Bill La Forge holds free-form ceramic sculpture, while student Bill Gardener puts finishing touches to his vase in preparation for April 14 judging at invitational ceramics exhibit and competition. With more than 30 high schools invited, entries will be accepted at the Pacific High School library April 6-11, and the exhibit will be open free to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., daily April 13-18. Hart was a member of the California Teachers Association, the American Personnel Guidance Association and the California Guidance Association.

He is survived by two brothers, Robert J. Hart, who lives around the corner, and Sgt. Paul Hart of the San Mateo County sheriff's department

Nell Norton
Sugar 'n' Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Well, well, well, the Easter bunny came and brought all sort of goodies didn't he? If your home is like mine, the chocolate bunnies, jelly beans, marshmallow chickens and rocky road eggs are long gone, but the hard-cooked eggs linger on. And there they sit in their bright splendor adding a note of color to the stark whiteness of the refrigerator. Aesthetically pleasing perhaps, but how to use them up is the question?

Deviled eggs are good, and most everyone likes an egg salad sandwich, and the best way to finish off the remaining amout would be to combine them with a thin cream sauce and serve them over hot biscuits. Not only tasty but very practical, money saving entree.

CREAMED EGGS

6 hard-cooked eggs (a few more if you have them)
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Melt the two tablespoons butter, blend in the two tablespoons flour until smooth. Add the two cups milk gradually, stirring constantly until boiling point is reached. Reduce heat and cook for three minutes longer; add the teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper and blend.

Slice the hard-cooked eggs into the sauce. Blend lightly and serve immediiately over hot biscuits.

THINKING ALONG the lines of inexpensive entrees, (and aren't we always thinging along those lines?), this next dish certainly fills that bill. I served this with cabbage and carrot slaw and steamed brown bread. It made an attractive and very tasty dinner.

SAUSAGE AND LIMA BEAN CASSEROLE

2 cups dried lima beans
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup chopped onions, lightly browned
1 pound pork sausage links
½ cup chili sauce
½ cup catsup
¼ cup liquid from cooked beans
1½ teaspoons horseradish
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Cover the dried beans with five cups water. Boil for two minutes, then soak for one hour or overnight. Add the salt, and boil gently until tender — about 45 minutes to one hour. Drain. Reserving one-fourth cup of the liquid.

Fry the sausage until brown. Set aside. Pour off most of the grease and fry the half cup onions until lightly browned. Add the onions, the half cup each chili sauce and catsup, one-fourth cup liquid from the beans, one and one-half teaspoons horseradish and tablespoon each Worcestershire sauce and prepared mustard to the beans. Mix well.

Pour half the beans into a casserole. Cover with half the cooked sausages and add the ramaining bean mixture; garnish top with rest of sausages. Cover and bake in 325 degree over about 30 minutes.

Serves six.

WHILE shopping recently I noticed there are lots of pears on the market now and that the price is right. So I was happy to try this recipe and found it delicious. If you have a chafing dish and prepare it at the table, you'll surely impress your guests with this elegant dessert.

BRANDIED PEAR SLICES

3 or 4 fresh Anjou, Bosc or Comice pears
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup pecan halves
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
2 tablespoons apricot brandy
pecan halves, for garnish

Core and slice the pears. Melt the three tablespoons butter in chafing dish and saute pear slices until tender. Sprinkle with the fourth cup sugar and add the fourth cup pecan halves. Stir gently to glaze.

To whipped cream add the two tablespoons apricot brandy. Serve over hot pears in compotes. Garnish with pecan half. Makes six servings.

NOTE: One-half teaspoon brandy flavoring and one tablespoon sugar may be substituted for apricot brandy.

You don't have to own a chafing dish to make this dessert. I used a skillet and a low heat on the stove. Followed the above directions and the results were truly tasty. My family loved it.

PIE AND CAKE at the weekend wedding reception of Larry Carns to Sue Fishel at Shakey's Pizza Parlor in Daly City. The cake was traditional, but the pie was all pizza and washed down with gallons of beer. Seems the happy couple decided to combat the high cost of marriage and asked owner Mel Lichtman to host the spread following Rev. Herb Tweedie's wedding ceremony. Rumors have it the couple, in still another effort to beat inflation, were last seen heading for a two week honeymoon in Milpitas.

AWRIGHT, ALREADY — Stop those phone calls and letters. So we let a misspelling slip through on that column item about misspelling at the Olympia School. We should have said "Stationery" like in writing paper, instead of "Stationary" like in he ain't moving at all!

AT FRANK (TOTO) SPADARELLA'S breakfast confab the other a.m (like 7:30 a.m.) speaker assemblyman Paul Priolo (60th Assembly District) concluded his speech and handed his "official" cufflinks to Spadarella with the comment "you can give 'em back to me when you get to Sacramento." Ya listening Leo?

AFTERTHOUGHT —Attorney John Sherman, Spadarella's opponent in the primary for the 27th assembly district, also attended the function.

YOU CAN BLAME the county supervisors for the lack for uniformity in the electrical (building) codes. Some months back proponents of non-metallic sheathed electric cable approached the supervisors and asked for a code change. Opponents of the stuff screamed to high Heaven and the supervisors decided — in one of their positive moves — to toss the hot potato to the cities.

According to the county, they would listen to the will of the cities. Instead, when the facts started rolling in it was found that those cities controlling the biggest number of people didn't want the NMS and voted to continue with the present wiring.

Some cities approved the NMS in local building codes, but only in single family dwellings — no apartments or businesses. After looking over the results the county supervisors decided to follow the latter and allow NMS in homes, not in apartments, etc. So today, Dear Readers, the city fathers are more bewildered than ever inasmuch as some have already voted on what they want.

YOU KNOW APRIL 14 is election day in your city. Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. and all you've got to do is step behind a curtain, pick out your choices and, voila, you have voted. And for those who may get upset in cramped quarters the precinct women — those volunteers who make sure we only vote once that day — will let you take in a security blanket. Voting isn't a privilege or a right in this country — It's A RESPONSIBILITY!

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.E.— an apt title for this item would be "How to take the wind out of someone's sail." Truth is, they couldn't find anyone else to take over that club you now head. Good luck!

DEATH TRAP IN D.C.— The intersection of Park Plaza Drive and Southgate Avenue is another in our new series titled "Whatta place to die."

Driving down Southgate (heading easterly) the motorist brakes to a stop at the signboard, looks right and then tries to look left, however a charitable organization has erected a small shed on the corner. This, coupled with a row of parked cars, obstructs the driver's view and he edges out until he (a) sees he is clear; (b) sees he is not and stops; (c) sees he is not and tries to make it anyway, or (d) moans loudly as a female motorist takes off his grille.

SOME FOLKS WONDERING about the possible link between the Western Cable TV company (franchised in SSF) and the fact that the KRON telly studio gave such wide coverage to the 1965 opening of the SSF library. Both TV firms are connected with each other. We also covered the opening of the library and thought it was rather novel (no pun) that the facility got such play — although it was, and still is, considered to be a pacesetter for other community libraries.

SPEAKING OF CATV AND STUFF — Heard rumbles that the County Grand Jury is looking into the SSF deal with vigor and may be asking some rather pointed questions of at least one official. The question we ask: Couldn't the matter have waited until after the April 14 elections? It's already been hanging for quite some time and two weeks certainly can't mean that much — or can it?

Cardroom Owner Sees 'Favorable Traffic'

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

While the powers that be, in San Bruno, plus the city's chamber of commerce, work to preserve the retail flavor of San Mateo Avenue, a cardroom is taking shape on that very street.

Undoubtedly it will be the only cardroom on San Mateo Avenue. But nevertheless, it also undoubtedly will remain, since the brewing ordinance to oust cardrooms cannot be retroactive.

Howard L. DeLong Jr., who neatly moved into the vacated store at 478 San Mateo Avenue under the nose (over the protests?) of the chamber, said "We're going to make that chamber of commerce proud of us."

DeLong said he and his two partners, Walt C. Kelley, who will act as general manager, and Kelley's stepson, plan on a grand opening April 3.

"I'm sure that we are going to contribute to favorable traffic (as opposed to the dubious characters projected by chamber officials), and really," said DeLong, "we expected no opposition. We had no idea they (the chamber) were that upset."

How upset?

Well, the chamber board of directors voted unanimously to oppose any more cardrooms opening in San Bruno. And a four-man delegation from the chamber's merchants committe appeared at the recent meeting of the San Bruno Planning commissioners seeking a rezoning of the three blocks on San Mateo Avenue that would require special permits for other than retail business.

The commissioners set April 6 as a hearing date on the request.

In the meantime, the city attorney, on orders from the councilmen, is in the process of drafting up an ordance that would in some way limit and restrict cardrooms in the city.

Just this past council meeting, Councilman Karney Barberian sought to eliminate all future cardrooms in the city. He wanted City Attorney Joe Galligan to draft another ordinance that would allow the present rooms to remain. However, if they went out of business they could not be replaced, and no new rooms could come into the city.

Barberian's motion never received a second.

A statement in the Chamber's monthly bulletin incidentally, said, "It is interesting to note that card rooms in San Bruno do not need a business license, do not contribute sales tax monies to the city, and by the way, apparently find it unnecessary to support the chamber of commerce (they don't belong)."

As far as the business license is concerned, the city does not have a cardroom license per se. Therefore it is necessary to issue a business license for a "retail-type" operation.

So the San Mateo Avenue cardroom really is known as the Gold Rush Smoke Shop. The license is for "retail sales, tobacco, candy and soft drinks."

Concerning the contributions to the operation of the city, this will supposedly be part of the new ordinance.

And as to the bit about cardrooms not being members of the chamber, DeLong, for one, said he didn't see why there is any reason he wouldn't join.

He seemed quite non-plussed about the entire uproar.

"We are there legitimately," said DeLong. "We have conformed to all the requirements."

One of these requirements was the initial limiting of usable space to some 700 square feet from an available 2,000 square feet because of existing fire regulations.

DeLong and his partners, however, plan to open the entire 2,000 square feet. They have leased the next door store, also vacant, and cut a hole in the wall to provide the necessary exits. At this point, in time, anyhow, the next door store will serve as one long, wide hallway.

"We plan to have a nice community-type operation," said DeLong. "We are not a gambling house, in that the host does not participate. We just offer the facilities for playing cards.

"We spent many months studying this before starting the venture," he said. "The place had been empty for eight or nine months. We have some local support and thought this included the chamber.

"Their action certainly wasn't the up-and-coming progressive response, as they, for example, had with the Tanforan complex. They jumped to conclusions.

"I think what they did was very unfair. I'm still astounded to think a chamber of commerce would take an attitude to go against legal rights and free enterprise. But we hold no grudge," said DeLong.

SIDEWALK SUPERINTENDENT keeps a close eye on workman laying red carpet at the Gold Rush Smoke Shop at 478 San Mateo Avenue, San Bruno. The Smoke Shop, which will basically be a cardroom, is in the heart of the San Bruno shopping district. Efforts by city and chamber of commerce officials to close it were for naught. Grand opening is slated for April 3. (Photo by Burton)

Right To Strike

"The King can do no wrong." But he can get in a lot of trouble, and so can modern governmental bodies that rely on the vestiges of the doctrine of royal prerogative.

Nowhere has this been plainer than in the area of government-employe relations. As a carry-over from the past, we have it that the public employes cannot strike. Policemen, firemen, postal employes and others are told that their remedy is political. They have the right to lobby boards, legislatures and congress concerning pay and working conditions. Generally, they are allowed to meet and grumble, and mediate, but are deprived by law of the most useful bargaining instruments, the strike or the threat of strike.

Morally, there is something bothersome about the present system. It forces public employes to be involved in politics directly or indirectly. Those working for City Hall or the State Capitol end up with a vital interest in seeing who runs City Hall or the State House, and public employes can be very effective politically, Hatch, Little Hatch or Civil Service rules notwithstanding.

Today, public employes, who enjoy no right to strike, are striking. Furthermore, their acts in violation of law have proven effective. After an illegal strike, the first demand is for amnesty and the avoidance of punishment or penalty for illegal acts. And as the garbage rises, the mail mounts, and the risk of fire and lawlessness increases, sorely pressed public officials are inclined to grant this out of hand. For, the primary interest of everyone is that the work stoppage cease.

Under these circumstances, there might as well be no law against strikes. Once a labor practice becomes as prevalent as striking by public employes is today, it is almost impossible to stop. As a result, the present system may come to a complete standstill.

Because labor practices of public employes are closely tied to social and economic conditions, this is a very dangerous situation. True enough, the Vallejo police strike was not marked by widespread violence. But in Montreal the moment the police struck, menacing unrest arose. That the Vallejo strike could last for five days without disaster is no measure of the incredible risks involved.

Considered through the eyes of governmental employes, change is also indicated. A glance at the take-home pay of a 20-year veteran of the mail service tells us that government is not always benevolent. The postal workers have had little clout on Capitol Hill, and as a result, have fallen behind average pay scales.

So there should be some new thinking about public employes and their labor grievances. Legislative committees are forever conducting hearings on one thing or another, and here is a problem on which useful work can certainly be done.

One meritorious proposal is that of the President concerning restructuring of the Post Office through a against strikes. Once a labor practice becomes as prevalent Government-owned corporation and his suggested change should have been accomplished a long time ago. Rethinking along lines of contracted services may be entirely proper. For example, maintenance, grounds keeping, food supply and similar services, might well be provided through private contract.

Not all public employes need be denied the right to strike. Certainly, the wide range of public services includes some where a strike would not be an immediate danger to public health and safety. Finally, the possibilities of mediation have not been exhaustively considered. A step has been taken in this direction in California with the Meyers-Milias-Brown act of 1968. Its effectiveness has not been fully probed. Even binding arbitration should be considered as a means of avoiding the current impasse.

Pollution had to become visible, palpable and smellable because the public became sufficiently aroused to demand change. The circumstances surrounding governmental employment have now become as menacing. New ways of handling the labor relations of public bodies should be devised, and study and action should start now.

Slaying 'The Lie'

Some foolish persons, filled with misguided zeal rather than knowledge, are telling high school students that Abraham Lincoln did not oppose Negro slavery and would not issue his Proclamation of Emancipation until public opinion forced him to do so.

It is time to put death to the lie. From the very beginning of his career, Lincoln cast his lot with the opponents of Negro slavery and Negro oppression.

In 1837, when he was 28 years old, he introduced a resolution of protest into the Illinois Legislature. In its support he said, "Slavery is founded on both injustice and bad policy."

WHEN HE WAS A MEMBER of the United States House of Representatives, he voted against the extension of slavery over 40 times in two years. As a congressman he complained that he had to bite his tongue and keep quiet when he wanted to speak for Negro freedom. Negro oppression, he said "is a thing which has, and continually exercises, the power of making me miserable."

By 1855, Lincoln was no longer quiet. His speeches became landmarks that aroused hundreds of people. For example, his speech at Peoria, Ill.

He cried, "Those who deny the Negro his natural rights and make mere merchandise of him, deserve kickings, contempt and death."

In his debates with Stephen A. Douglas, he spoke for Negro freedom in nearly every speech. "Slavery is morally wrong," he cried, "and contrary to our highest ideals as expressed in the Declaration of Independence."

HE HELD THAT SLAVERY had already been instituted when the Constitution was formed and the slaveholders, therefore, had certain constitutional rights to hold their property, but no one had a right to extend slavery, and Congress had a duty to "prevent the spread of slavery into new territories."

Indeed, Lincoln spoke against slavery and for Negro rights so often Douglas' followers accused him of favoring interracial marriages.

To this he replied, "I do not want a Negro woman for a salve; I do not want her for a wife. My unlerstanding is that I need not have her for either, but as God made us separate, we can leave one another alone and do one another much good."

As he progressed towards the presidency and after he took office, Lincoln showed an understanding of Negro people that is still meaningful. In a letter he wrote, "Negroes, like other people, act upon motives. Why should they do anything for us? They must be prompted by the strongest motive — even the promise of freedom. And the promise being made, must be kept."

LINCOLN HOPED FOR the gradual emancipation of Negroes, but when the time came to issue his proclamation he was ready to do so and defend his action.

Said he, "I am naturally anti-slavery. If slavery is not wrong, nothing is wrong. I cannot remember when I did not so think and feel."

To Horace Greeley, who had criticized him, Lincoln wrote, "I intend no modification of my off-expressed wish that all men everywhere be free."

Toward the close of his career, Lincoln wrote to southern governors, asking that they see that the right to vote was guaranteed for the Negroes. When the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution was proclaimed it contained Lincoln's phrase, "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as punishment for crime . . . shall exist within the United States . . .

ABRAHAM LINCOLN was the harbinger of Negro freedom and of equality for all men — black as well as white. Let no ignormaus teach otherwise.

"One fire was on his spirit,
one resolve—
To send the keen axe to the root of wrong."

Panthers Defeat Indians

Defending champion Burlingame High School made it two in a row Wednesday by taking the 1970 Daly City Lions' Invitational Easter Baseball Tournament with a 3-1 victory over Jefferson's Indians.

The Panthers rode the four-hit pitching of righthander Stan Jackson to the title in the second year the invitational has been under way. Westmoor High Schoo, busting loose with nine hits, came through with thrird place by downing San Mateo's Bearcats, 10-5.

Riordan's Larry Viscarra stopped Lowell's big bats for a 6-2 fifth place win while DeLaSalle, which came to the tournament with an impressive 6-1 record but couldn't compete in the rugged Peninsula competition, took its ball home Tuesday after two tournament losses and didn't come back for the third game yesterday.

Smoky Morton, Jefferson's junior firstbaseman who went seven for eight in the three games, was voted the tourney's Most Valuable Player and headed an 11-player All-Tournament selection.

Those chosen along with Morton were: Burlingame — Russ Frederico, Tom Batter and Terry Freethy, who had seven hits also; Jefferson — Dale Conway, Morton and Tom DelSarto; San Mateo — Chris Allemand and Joe Serena; Westmoor — Ted Grey; Riordan — Glenn Phillips; Lowel — Ron Mosley.

The Indians took a 1-0 lead in the championship game in the second inning when Morton singled, was sacrificed to second by catcher John Giannini and scored on Mike Egipciaco's single.

But the Panthers came back with the tying run in the fourth when Jeff Reed blasted an apparent long single to left field. But the ball took a long hop over the outfielder's head, rolled to the wall and allowed Reed to touch all four bases for a home run.

Burlingame won it in the sixth with two unearned runs. Bob Jacobsen walked and Reed singled him along.With both runners on second and third, an in-

Depth Of Tigers Enables Victory

Depth on the mound has enabled Terra Nova High School's Tigers to capture the 1970 Terra Nova Easter Invitational.

Saving their best pitcher for the last game, the Tigers came through with a 6-2 verdict over Capuchino to end the three-day, eight-team affair. Tamalpias downed Serra in the third place game, 2-1, in nine innings while Hillsdale took fifth place with a 7-2 decision over Oceana. Lincoln of San Francisco eluded the cellar with a 6-0 win over Crestmoor.

Lefthander Bob McClure picked up the victory with a six-hit, six-inning stint which saw him register eight strikeouts but walk five and hit two more. McClure, who has been having arm troubles of late, gave way to reliever Bud Papadakis in the seventh.

McClure walked to open the scoring third inning for the Tigers and Mike Calder followed with a single. A double steal brought McClure home before catcher Mike Rawlins singled in Calder. An infield error one out later brought in Rawlings for the third run.

Three more TNT runs crossed the plate in the fifth. After a walk and a double, Frank Capazano blasted a 350-foot-plus homer to dead center.

Firstbaseman Keith Hernadez drove in both Capuchino runs with singles in the third and seventh innings.

Brad Metheany, Ed Kertel, Dan Nerby and Jay Wheeler all singled safely in a five-run third inning that gave the Knights fifth place. Winning pitcher Dave Hanlon also had a two-run single as Hillsdale racked up ten hits.

These were the players selected to the All-Tourney team: Pitchers — Vic Lavoie (S), Bob McClure (TN, Terry Ruggles (Cap), Paul Kime (Tam); Catchers — Mike Rawilngs (TN), Darrell Loville (Lin); IF — Keith Hernandez (Cap), Bud Papadakis (TN), Dan Nerby (H), Pat Sabia (Lin); Outfielders — Mike Calder (TN), Steve Crocenzi (O), Miles Mintle (O).

High school boys' singles: Mark Appel def. Ken Halligan 6-3, 8-6, 6-1; John O'Keefe def. John Kellner 6-3, 0-6, 6-4; finals: Appel def. O'Keefe 6-3, 2-6, 6-2.

Rams Suffer Twin Losses To Falcons

The Westmoor Rams frosh-soph baseball team was not as fortunate as they had been in their previous practice games. They were dumped twice by a tough Crestmoor Falcon squad, 4-1, 16-0.

The only bright spot for the Rams was their pitching staff.

The only Ram rally came in the sixth. Having men on first and second and nobody out, Gavin Long laid down a bunt and the man on second base was forced out at third.

Then Jerry Mitchell lined a shot to center field, but the heavy winds held the ball up and the man on second had to see if it was going to drop for a base hit, and was also forced to third; the next batter dropped out.

In the second game the Rams got only two hits off the Crestmoor pitcher, both in the fifth inning, by Rob Roy and Louie Medrano. Every member of the starting nine received a hit except for the pitcher, who had a no-hitter until the fifth inning.

Bench Strength Beats Berkeley

One thing about South San Francisco coach Bob Brian — he isn't at all timid when it comes to using his bench in crucial games.

Showing a good deal of confidence in starting three nonregulars, the Warrior baseball coach master-minded a 6-1 victory over Berkeley High School's Yellowjackets to win the 1970 SSF Easter Invitational Tournament last Saturday at Orange Park.

He did stick with experience on the mound, however, as it was senior righthander Bruce Collins picking up the win on a three-hitter. The one Berkeley run was unearned. Collins, who had pitched a one-hit shutout in the tourney's opening round SSF game, struck out five and walked two and even got a rare single to drive in the Warriors' third run.

"The defensive play of our infielders really won this game for us," enthused Brian. "Rich Crumpton, Jim Beall, Dave Gutierrez, Buster Ballestrasse and Collins all contributed some great plays. It was the best team defensive effort I have seen in quite a while."

The offense had its moment also. The Warriors, now 6-4 overall and heading back into the tough North Peninsula League title chase with a three-game win streak, scored four times in the second inning for all the tallies they were to need Saturday.

Crumpton opened the winning inning with a walk and an attempted force play on Art Olson's infield grounder went astray and there were runners on second and third. Beall's infield grounder was thrown to the plate to nab Crumpton but the Berkeley catcher dropped the ball for one SSF run. Gutierrez' single then scored Olson and

FOLLOWERS OF THE PISTOL PETE MARAVICH school of the Occult are probably winking and nodding knowingly at the reports (if, indeed, the event has not already happened as this piece is being set into print) that Pete will sign with the Carolina Cougars of the ABA while father Press will be signed to coach the Pittsburgh Pipers of the same league. A deal, they're thinking . . . the kid agrees to bypass the NBA so his old man can ride on his shirt-tails to a cushy job.

Maravich, senior, is, in fact, "one helluva basketball coach," according to Mike Orlich, for years Jefferson High's basketball coach and now Commissioner of the North Peninsula League.

If anyone in the area is competent to make such a judgment it's Orlich, a fellow Serb who played many games with Press back East in the Serbian basketball tournaments.

"Every year, while we were going through high school and college, we'd meet back there for the big Serbian tournament after our seasons were over," says Orlich.

Such ethnic tournaments (they also, for instance, have Italian and Polish tournaments) are big and extremely competitive back East, says Orlich. The Serbian tournament has been going for 33 years with 32 teams competing every year.

This past year California sent a team to the tournament for the first time in about 20 years, and it made the finals. Orlich feels they might have gone all the way if the team hadn't been formed in such a pick-up manner. Serbs from different colleges in the West were chosen but didn't play together until they met back East and virtually until they were in their first tournament game.

Orlich, who has three ball playing sons (Jeff, a junior at Westmoor, made all NPL this year) and knows of several outstanding prep Serb players in the Bay Area, is thinking of taking his own Serbian team to the tournament next year.

Orlich would have his boys work out as a team before they went East, however.

JACK MARIN, the sharp-shooting forward of the Baltimore Bullets, is, incidentally, also of Yugoslavian origin — a Croatian— also who's real name is Marinovich.

In the opinion of some experts, Marin is a better shooter than his flashy teammate, Earl "The Pearl" Monroe.

And if one checks out the statistics on the former Duke flash and compares them with those of Monroe's, the experts come out right.

We're not privy to this season's final official NBA stats, but last year, for instance, Monroe shot 44 per cent from the field, 76.8 from the free throw line. Marin hit on 45.5 from the floor, 80.5 at the line. In the playoffs, Monroe was 38.6 and 80.6; Marin, 47.1 and 63.6.

Of course, Monroe averaged 25.8 a game during the regular season and 28.3 in the play-offs as against Marin's 15.9 and 13.8. But then Monroe had about 80 per cent more shots from the field during the season and well over twice as many in the play-offs.

Lifetime averages for the two prior to this season (two seasons for Monroe, three for Marin), show Monroe at 44.6 and 77.5, respectively; Marin, 45.5 and 80.5.

You may wonder why we've gone to so much trouble for two foreign players. It isn't gratuitous, we can assure you.

If you read the papers, you know that Marin has been, as they say in the trade journals, "waxing unhappy" thoughts in Baltimore. He doesn't exactly say why, aside from the usual thing — that he doesn't like coming off the bench—but the above statistics may give us all a clue. Perhaps he's sore because nobody ever throws the ball to him.

At any rate, that fact coupled with the fact that Marin loves the West Coast and is seriously thinking of settling here — perhaps even in San Francisco (so a reliable source tells us) — next year, gives rise to a thought that perhaps Franklin Mieuli has already considered. You guessed it. If the Warriors must go without a sharp-shooting forward named Rick Barry for another year, wouldn't a sharp-shooting forward by the name of Jack Marin be a reasonable substitute?

AS YOU MAY REMEMBER, we did an item a couple of weeks ago on what we called "one of the strangest holdouts of the baseball season." We were writing, of course, of the Mets' Ron Swaboda, a .235 hitter who was mortified because the Mets had offered him only a 50 per cent raise to $40,000 annually. Swaboda was holding out for $50,000.

Swaboda, we're glad to say, stayed in character when he ended the holdout with perhaps the strangest declaration after signing a reported $40-$42,000 contract we've ever heard.

When reporters asked him what he had finally signed for, he said, "I'm too ashamed to tell you."

He was finally prodded to add, inpart, "I'm sick over the whole thing. I never had a worse feeling inside in my whole life. I'm ashamed to look my wife in the face. I feel that I let my family down . . ."

If $40-$42,000 a year for six months of 3-4 hours' work a day is shameful, then we'd be willing to sacrifice our pride for that any time.

TAG END: We hate to disagree with Franklin Mieuli, but we don't think he goofed at all in "losing" Pete Maravich. To begin with, there's no guarantee Mieuli could have signed him away from the ABA. Secondly, what Maravich wanted might have bankrupted Mieuli if Maravich didn't draw, and we could have lost the Warriors. Most important, we don't think Maravich will be nearly the sensation as a pro that he was in college.

He looks a little too skinny to take the physical abuse a pro must take; he doesn't play both ends of the court, and he's never learned what to do on the court when he doesn't have the ball, a skill which is very necessary in the pros.

Then too, how will he adjust psychologically when he learns that he isn't the only star on the team? And finally, if there is a merger, Mieuli may end up ith Barry, Zelmo Beaty, for whom he sacrificed Maravich, and maybe even Bill Sharman to coach. And who knows, Nate Thurmond might even come out of retirement. Come to think of it, who needs Maravich?

The Neutral Corner

By JERRY LITTRELL

THERE'S NO DOUBT ABOUT IT! High school baseball fans along the entire Peninsula will be treated to some of the most talented and sought-after individuals throughout the 1970 season.

The baseball played in this area is, and has been for the past five years, some of the best in the state. Other areas may outrank our football and-or basketball teams but the top-flight baseball action on the prep level can match pitch-for-pitch with any other area.

That much and more was evident this past week with the three Easter Invitational tournaments played in the North County. Those games were the sole source of prep athletic endeavors as 95 per cent of the student bodies took time off for a week's vacation.

Those that remained as school representatives did themselves proud. Facing the best San Francisco, the East Bay and Marin County had to offer, local baseball teams came home with three out of three titles when the harried week's activities were completed.

Burlingame High School's Panthers won the Daly City Lions Invitational for the second year in a row (beating another local squad, Jefferson, in the finals, 3-1); South San Francisco High School won its own tournament at Orange Park; and defending Central Coast Section champion Terra Nova High School won the Tigers' own invitational.

Along the way in the TN tourney, Capuchino bested Lincoln High School of San Francisco, rightfully thought to be one of the best in Northern California this season. Burlingame and Lowell High Schools embarassed visiting DeLaSalle High School so well that the sore-losers refused to show up for the third-day's matchups. Count on the Spartans (or whatever they're nicknamed) to be scratched from all future invitationals in this area. They had come into the tournament with a 6-2 record but the opposing teams were probably playground pickup nines.

As for pitchers — South City's staff had to rate the top mention for the week's efforts. Righthanders Bruce Collins and Pete Enea each threw a shutout in the Warriors' first two games against Sacred Heart and St. Ignatius and Collins came back Saturday to limit Berkeley's Yellowjackets to one unearned run.

Hitting? How about Burlingame's Terry Freethy with seven hits? Or Jefferson's Smoky Morton with seven for eight? Or the home runs that kept popping over the Orange Avenue cones?

It wasn't at all a bad six days for San Mateo County.

ALONG THESE SAME LINES — It was interesting to again watch that strange animal known as a baseball coach in action. Tournaments are great showplaces for these showmen. Even if the game were dull most of the time their antics made it all worth while.

There was the Mumbler. He paced back and forth in front of his bench cursing to himself and carrying on a steady conversation with his own Harvey. Never really mad at anyone in particular, he was always ready to lecture all on the fundamentals of the game at the drop of a fly.

There were several Pacers. A few Screamers. A Silent Minority. A couple Baiters. About half the baseball coaching population is deserved of a Jekyll-Hyde certificate. They become different people when they slip on the old sliding pads. Wonder why baseball coaches feel the urge to don a uniform? Can you see basketball coaches wearing a jersey on the bench? Or grid coachs in helmets?

One coach, now calmed down to a mere roar on the field, admitted that involving himself in the game got to be a physical hardship on himself and his former players.

"I was so intense during games that I finally had to keep one fellow on the bench solely to keep reminding me that it's only a game," he noted. "We do sometimes lose our sense of perspective, I guess."

Another confessed to using a rope tied around his waist which kept him from running onto the field to argue. "By the time I had the rope untied I had a chance to give things a second thought. I didn't get thrown out of nearly so many games after that."

AND IN THE TRIVIA DEPT. — Guess what sport drew the most high school athletes into its fold? The national survey completed by the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations (phew!) says that football drew the highest number. What sport was played at more schools than any other? Basketball.

Here, in order, are the findings, by the statistical committees: Sheer number of athletes — 1. Football; 2. Basketball; 3. Track; 4. Baseball; 5. Wrestling; 6. Cross Country; 7. Golf; 8. Tennis; 9. Swimming; 10. Volleyball. Sports played the most at all high schools — 1. Basketball; 2. Track; 3. Football; 4. Baseball; 5. Golf; 6. Cross Country; 7. Wrestling; 8. Tennis; 9. Volleyball; 10. Swimming.

In the numbers participating column badminton was 17th. Curling was 16th in participating schools.

Coast Swim Program Is Under Way

After a week of lessons during the spring vacation the Park, Beach and Recreation Department in Pacifica is ready to launch its Saturday swim lesson program.

Classes are being held at 1 p.m. 1:45 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. for children 48-inches tall and over.

Children will participate in the lesson program with the assistance of swimmer aides and the P.B. and R. staff, under co-sponsorship of the P.B. and R. and the American Red Cross.

The department will begin its recreation swim program for the community April 5 and April 7.

The Sunday afternoon program is to be from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. and Tuesday, a family swim program from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

All swim programs are held at the heated Terra Nova High School pool which has locker room facilities. Cost for the program is 25 cents for chilldren, 35 cents for high school students and 40 cents for adults.

A school for teen-agers interested in learning to teach swimming, has been underway and the program, conducted during spring vacation, included teaching skills, swimming skills, and water safety and first aide skills.

The 50 graduating aides now will be able to assist the water safety instructors in teaching swimming throughout the Spring and Summer.

SSF Wins On Strength Of Bench

Beall before Collins ended the scoring with a run-producing single.

Wildness on Berkeley's part proved disasterous in the sixth as Olson, Beall and Gutierrez all walked the bags loaded and Leo Bernardini drove in two with a single before Ballestrasse ended the day's scoring with another safety.

As was fitting, South City and Berkeley dominated the All-Tournament selections. The Warriors last won the Invitational in 1967 beating Sacred Heart in the finals.

Those selected to the 1970 All-Tourney team were: Pitchers — Collins (South SF); Pete Enea (South SF); Paul Dyer (St. Ignatius); John Cosmos (SH); Catcher — Brad Brian (South SF); Infielders — Jim Alliston (SI); Roy Phelps (Berkeley); Crumpton (South SF); Ed Gassano (SI); Steve Odom (Berkeley); Outfielders — Bernardini (South SF); Glenn Burke (Berkeley); Billy King (Berkeley).

Ram Golfers Trounce T.N.

Opening their season, the Westmoor Ram golf team showed their prowess by trouncing Terra Nova at the Lake Merced country club.

Leading the Rams were senior Rob O'Neil who toured the wind-swept course in 73.

Juniors Kelly O'Neil and Ray Pelligrini shot 78 and 76, respectively.

Freshman Jim Spence turned in the most unusual round when he shot a 46 on the front nine and a sparkling 37 on the back.

Byron Cook, Terra Nova's number one man, was 13 over par for his 14 holes.

field throwing error allowed two runs to score.

Jefferson got a creditable pitching performance from righthander Frank Edlemann, who was sick during the first two days of action and wasn't expected to compete even yesterday. The senior pitcher struck out six and walked three in throwing a five-hitter.

Jackson struck out seven Indians and walked five to stay in trouble most of the way but was able to pitch his way out of numerous jams in the middle innings.

Mike Bridant's Name Keeps Popping Up In DC Bowling

Special to The Post

Mike Bridant is a name that is coming up consistently in Daly City bowling talk.

The 26-year-old mechanic is scoring high and during the final night of Serra Bowl's Handicap Doubles Tournament, he shot a sizzling 290 game — missing a perfetd score because of a 10 pin left on his first ball..

A veteran of five years on the lanes, Bridant rolled a 651 series that night and has scored 701 and 706 in the last month. The tall kegler bowls in three leagues and was runnerup with his wife, Cathy, in the tournament with a 1359 score.

An all-star team of Serra keglers recently took second place in the prestigious northern California Women's Team Tournament at San Carlos Bowl.

Rowena Nichols paced the victory with games of 212, 193 and 210 for a 615 series and Dottie Millard rolled up a 231 game and 540 series. Les Bergamachi, one of San Francisco's top all-stars for years, anchored the team with a 225 game and 571 series. Aiding were Dona Siacotos and Tove Eichelberger.

At Westlake Bowl, Bank of America took over the lanes for their women's state tournament and San Francisco's Jean Williams came out on top with high series (613), High game (232) and all events (1,634). Two Orange County squads won the team events.

Valerian Provides A Musical Background

The poetic sounds of Valerian at the piano have been added to the musical scene at Stickney's in San Mateo. It's relaxing background music during the dining and cocktail hours . . . What is a festive occasion without a little of your favorite brew to help celebrate. And an ideal place to lift a few is Neal's Pub in Westborough Square. The hospitable owners are Dottie and Neal Morehouse, who also count Daly City's First Cabin among their holdings . . . For those heading for the beach, any one of Nick Gusts's three outstanding restaurants at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, would be a happy finale to a scenic drive along Coast Highway One. Nick's restaurant, featuring steak and seafood specialties (breakfast, lunch and dinner is served), is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. Dancing, cocktails, banquets and private parties; The Moonraker, a well-appointed nautical restaurant featuring Continental cuisine, is open Tuesday through Sunday, 2 p.m. to 2 a.m.; the Papagayo Room, hosted by the popular Al Williams, is tops for Mexican food (served from 4 p.m.). Illuminated oceanside dining afforded at all three restaurants.

Not only does Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach specialize in pizzas, but Enrico Romano also prides himself on his family Italian dinners. Full course, or any way you want them . . . Jackie Adrian, a female impersonator with a voice that sounds like a fugitive from grand opera, is a talented newcomer to the colorful show at Finocchio's. Oldtime fans of this club compare his voice to that of Nicky Galucci, a star in the club's earlier days . . . Margie Brandon, who was surrounded with Easter bunnies at Baron's organ bar over the holiday, closed her evening's performance with a "drive home safely note: "When driving on the freeway, exercise extreme caution. If speed were the most important thing, rabbits would rule the world." . . . Belly dancers sway nightly to the music of The Trio Orfeo at the Greek Taverna in North Beach. Don't miss these sensuous beauties . . . Cocktail hour piano music begins at 5 p.m. in Nero's Nook at the Cabana Hyatt House, with shapely Nero's Goddesses serving your favorite cocktails. Linger until 9 p.m. —Eberle and Vaughn will come on stage to dazzle you with their virtuosity . . . "Ole," cry the spectators at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa Mexican cantina in San Francisco, as they enjoy the all-Latin review which stars The Sandovals.

Enrico Romano

SINGER, ACTRESS, MIMIC—Beautiful Edie Adams will open a three-week engagement in the Fairmont's Venetian Room on Thursday. The effervescent star, who has made numerous movies, countless television appearances and innumerable nightclub stands, is happiest when she is singing.

Broiled steaks, lobsters and Continental dishes, such as Medallions of Beef, are featured at the new Costa Brava restaurant, where diners enjoy an inspiring view of the San Francisco skyline and the Peninsula and Bay. The half-million dollar show case owned by Art Polizzi and Norm Eichelmann headlines The Rising Sons for dancing Tuesdays through Saturdays. The Happy Hour is also a popular attraction: "Foot-Long Martini" (six full servings) for $2.95 . . . The Friar's Club luncheons at Bruno's in San Francisco's Mission are booking top political candidates for off-the-cuff get-togethers. Next? Possibly Governor Reagan responding to the recent appearance of Jess Unruh. Never a dull moment at Bruno's . . . A thrilling climax to your dinner at L'Auberge in Atherton would be a flaming dessert such as Cherries Jubilee or Crepes Suzette. A king's selection of wines, liqueurs, cordials and cognacs enhance the well-stocked bar. George Bollag and Louis Frutschi open their country inn-style French bistro at 3 p.m. . . . The Tempura Sushi and Teriyaki Sukiyaki served at the San Raku Japanese restaurant on Second Avenue, San Mateo, is every bit as succulent as that served in Japan. The natural accompaniment for the delicious specialties is sake..

The summer season at South Lake Tahoe is in full swing, especially with Park Avenue Tours, whose Greyhound Bus tours and drive-up programs are doing capacity business. Barney's Casino and the South Shore Nugget are bulging with pre-summer vacationists who are taking advantage of the generous bonus refunds offered by Park Avenue Tours . . . Big Bick's, Santa Clara's newest restaurant (2705 The Alameda) is giving away prizes all during their grand opening celebration. Tickets for two dinners each day are drawn at 12 noon. The grand prize, a portable color television set (complete with stand), will be given away on the last day of the celebration—May 1. Get your free coupon from the cashier and deposit stub in drum in the dining room. A new number is drawn each day. The winning number is posted inside—prize must be claimed before next drawing. Children under 12 must be accompanied by parents to receive coupon. Don't miss out on this big celebration! Big Bick's, featuring big double all-beef hamburgers for 75 cents, is open daily from 6 a.m. to 1 a.m.; Friday and Saturday, 6 a.m. to 3 a.m.

Ben. Franklin Hotel Steeped In Tradition

Soaked in the radiance of San Mateo hospitality and sunshine and steeped in tradition, the Benjamin Franklin Hotel (located at 44 East Third Avenue) represents all the plus factors of the hotel and restaurant business.

While it is one of the oldest San Mateo landmarks, it still maintains, under the ownership of Erwin Best, an aura of newness—not only in decor but in the friendliness of the personnel, who are always ready and eager to help.

The Greenwillow Room, Benjamin Franklin Hotel's popular dining room under the management of head chef Tom Delano, offers many special treats. There are select daily offerings, including such tasty morsels as roast prime ribs of beef au jus, broiled lobster tail with melted butter, the Saddle and Shell (steak and lobster) and American Cheese Omelette.

The regular menu features roast crossribs of beef (also au jus), Breaded Veal Cutlet, Southern Fried Chicken (with a country gravy that you won't soon forget), Grilled Baby Beef Liver with onions or bacon, and Brochette of Beef Tenderloin.

Tom Delano also prides himself on his unusual sandwiches, and Brights Lights would suggest the Grilled Reuben Sandwich (with soup) which comes with turkey, Swiss cheese, sauerkraut and dressing, pumpernickle bread.

During World War II, Delano first worked at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. When he switched allegiance to the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, it was a move that would prove to be permanent — almost. He remained for a period of 15 years, building its reputation for gourmet dining and atmosphere. Four and a half years ago, Tom semi-retired to Sebastopol, where he was associated with the Flamingo Hotel for a short while. Only weeks ago he returned to the Benjamin Franklin in order to be closer to his daughter and grandchildren, and to resume his favorite post of head chef.

Jack In Box Rezone Bid Is Undecided

The Ralston-Purina Company's Pacifica request for a zoning change that would allow them to construct a Jack-In-The-Box drive-through restaurant at the corner of DeSolo Drive and Linda Mar Boulevard remains undecided today.

City council, which last December tabled the matter until this week, has referred the request back to "staff," which is expected to confer with Ralston-Purina and if necessary call another public hearing.

The council in December asked the city's planning staff, led by Lawrence McLaughlin, to obtain information relative to possible rezoning of the western portion of DeSolo Drive.

Ralston-Purina's proposed firm would abut DeSolo.

"Our conclusion," commented McLaughlin, "was that the corner was oriented toward Linda Mar Boulevard, but that the remainder is (of the area) oriented toward the (Linda Mar) shopping center."

Planners recommended against rezoning of the western portion, until there is a master plan by some developer of the entire area.

"We felt," McLaughlin said, "that if it were to be rezoned at this time, we would get a strip-type commercial that would not be beneficial to the city, and that we also would get a lot-by-lot development and could merely get, in some cases, a conversion of a residential unit into a commercial structure."

He added, "We felt that this particular area is so important that this should not be allowed."

Residents of the area have been voicing mixed viewpoints: those along DeSolo oppose the Jack-In-The-Box, citing noisy, as well as an infringment by commercialism into their residential environment. Those farther away don't object.

McLaughlin explained that the council's decision "basically leaves Ralston-Purina by themselves." By that he meant Ralston-Purina now must prove that Jack-In-The-Box is the "best use of the land on that particular corner."

The planning administrator pointed out that the city could develop a barrier-type feature through landscaping or walls, along the DeSolo edge of the proposed "drive-through," providing limited ingress and egress.

The city, McLaughlin declared, does not want any businesses fronting DeSolo.

If a new hearing must be set, the matter will not reach councilmen again until late April or early May.

On the other hand, McLaughlin said, if another hearing is not required, the issue could get to council within the next couple of weeks for action.

In a matter related to Linda Mar Boulevard, the council endorsed the city traffic engineer's action to ban parking on the busy thoroughfare in the vicinity of the Linda Mar Shopping Center.

BUDGET HEARING

A public hearing on the tentative proposed budget of the Laguna Salada School District has been set for 8 p.m., May 5, in the library of Pacifica's Sharp Park School, Supt. James Brien has announced.

Brisbane Candidate Clark Charged With Wood Theft

A wealthy candidate for the Brisbane City Council was arrested Wednesday and charged with stealing $250 worth of used plywood.

L. T. Clark, of 163 Visitacion Avenue, earlier listed some $300,000 in assets in accordance with the new Disclosure Act, and is considered a prime candidate in the upcoming April 14 council race.

He is accused of using plywood building material for construction of some 27 political signs around the bayside city which are owned by Ronald J. Musetti of San Francisco.

Supporters of Clark called the arrest "An attempted political assassination."

Councilman Dr. S. J. Guardino, a staunch supporter of Clark, blasted the arrest and called it "politically motivated."

Even Mayor Robert W. McLennan commented the arrest was "one of those things that could only happen in Brisbane."

Clark was quietly booked by police chief Billy Beard about 8:30 p.m. with the approving knowledge of the County District Attorney's Office, charging grand theft.

With his lawyer, Gerald M. Schneider of San Carlos, Clark allegedly disclosed how he had come by the plywood.

Clark said he has leased an adjoining lot for the past three years from John Matulich of the Matulich Investment Company. He turned over two cancelled check stubs made out to Matulich for $30 each. On the checks was the notion that they were for rental for the months of January and February, 1970.

For some months a stack of plywood was on the property and two witnesses — D. Grimm and A. D. Pierce — stated to chief Beard that in their presence Clark was informed by Matulich the wood was his, inasmuch as it was on the lot.

The wood is pre-marked and pre-cut and used for construction of a small shack from which the complaintant (Musetti) sells Christmas trees in season.

Clark told the Post the arrest came as a complete surprise.

"I have plenty of plywood in my basement for use if I wanted to use it. But this wood was not being used and I was told it was mine," Clark, a railroad

The arrest was apparently so hush hush, that city manager Gene Aiello did not know of it until contacted by this newspaper late this morning.

Asked for details concerning the arrest 11 hours after it was made, Brisbane police officer Clarence (Rick) Howel refused comment and directed all queries to chief Billy Beard.

When specifics regarding the whereabouts and charges made against the candidate were asked, the officer repeatedly refused comment or said "I don't know."

Four hours later Chief Beard was asked why the Clark arrest was hushed up and conducted in a "secret fashion."

"Officer Howel did not answer (the newspaper's) questions because it is none of his business and he shouldn't be giving out information on candidates or anyone else to the press only to have it misquoted," the chief replied.

In a revised statement, still later, Chief Beard said the officer did not answer newsmen's questions because he came on duty at midnight and was not informed of the arrest.

Chief Beard said there was "no coverup," explaining that material related to the case has been locked up in his desk.

The investigation, he said, has been underway since March 10, and has been handled by him and Sgt. John Alexander.

He said the patrolman on duty this morning obviously and justifiably did "not want to get involved in any way,' though the chief acknowledged "it was conceivable" the officer was not aware of the case.

Clark's name was entered on page 116 of the jail registry, Chief Beard pointed out, and it was either on his or the sergeant's desk.

Meanwhile, candidate Clark and his campaign manager Paul Schmitd, were erecting new political signs around Brisbane today.

Art Show Announced

The Eighth Annual Student Art Show at South San Francisco High School is continuing through Thursday.

Eugene A. Kubly, chairman, said the exhibit will be open to the public and students each day from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and each evening from 6:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Ribbon awards were presented on Tuesday. Plaques will be presented later, at the spring awards assembly. Judging will be by professional people in the field of art from Bay Area colleges and high schools.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

The jewelry industry went to the Better Business Bureaus throughout the country to check how it compared with other industries in consumer complaints and how the jewelers handled these complaints.

It found that inefficiency and unexcusable delays in repair service formed the top grievances. Slightly over half of the service complaints resulted from poor work done mainly on watches. Failure to keep promises of prompt repair of defective watches comprised the rest of the complaints.

The most controversial complaints concerned the questionalbe quality of diamonds and stone settings. A third of the complaints against jewelers received by Better Business Bureaus involved the quality of precious stones. Bureaus in many cities designate one jeweler to double check the value of any store in question. Some bureaus request that the customer get at least two appraisals.

A common complaint was found to be the use of the description of "perfect" and "blue white" to convince the customer that he was getting an unusual value when in reality, he was being sold an inferior quality stone at an inflated price.

For what length of time is the jeweler responsible for a stone falling out of a ring setting? One unsettled case involved a ring which had been purchased five years before the stone was lost from the setting. The customer claimed the loss was caused by an improper mounting.

At one time false and misleading advertising was the most persistent complaint against jewelers. Local advertising codes voluntarily honored by local jewelers and the media in cooperation with the Better Business Bureaus has eliminated much misunderstanding.

Peace Corps Rep At SSF

Kathy Jones, education consultant on the West Coast for the Peace Corps, spoke to the students at Southwood Junior High in South San Francisco recently.

Miss Jones informed the students of her position as a volunteer worker. She was stationed in Japan and Micronesia, spending two years on the different islands. She also showed slides during both presentations.

It was mentioned that students of Southwood could become a cooperative school by raising funds to build a school on one of the islands. The cost of a new school is $1,000.

Southwood Student Council is talking about this program. No definite plans have been made.

Membership In CSF For 32 In SSF

Carolyn Brjorklund, advisor to the California Scholarship Federation society, announces 32 students have qualified for membership into academic elite at South San Francisco High School.

The students are seniors: Louise Beye, Brad Brian, Matthew Cheung, Blanca Diaz, Gail McGovern, Karen Mayers, Susenne Pettigrew, Chris Ringue, Rachel Swendseid; juniors: Cynthia Barett, Victoria Brett, Roland Candee, Katie Choy, Helen Gubbins, Olivia Gagliani, Rebecca Herbert, John Kusano, Janet Leong; sophomores: Rita Bolling, Carolyn Capps, Nora Hsu, Rachel Kaiser, James Kellner, Jancy Kim, Demetruis Lim, Oscar Loza, Cheryl Leong, Beverly McCarthy, Lucy Palangian, Nancy Posey, Chris Rossi, and Robert Stack.

California Scholarship Federation is an organization honoring those students maintaining B or better grade averages in courses other than clerical aide and boys and girls physical education.

Robin Fross Is Selected As Delegate

Robin Fross has been selected by the faculty at El Camino High School in South San Francisco to be the school's candidate to the twenty-seventh annual session of California Girls State. Karen Lucas has been selected as her alternate. This year's Girls State will be held on the Davis Campus of the University of California, July 6 through 14.

The El Camino High School P-TA and the Sunshine Gardens Women's Club are splitting the cost of the $90 registration fee, so that the El Camino High School girl can take part in this most valuable program. Girls State is a work and study program in functional government. The candidate and her alternate were chosen on the basis of factors outlined by the American Legion Auxiliary. These factors are: leadership potential, ability to get along well with others, an interest in government and community activities.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Summer school in the Laguna Salada School District in Pacifica will be held from June 22 to July 24, with Don Raffo the principal, according to Supt. James Brien.

EXPENDITURE

San Bruno councilmen have okayed a request for the expenditure of $180 from the building maintenance fund for exterior lighting on the rear side of the police department, facing Linden Avenue.
